A Little Bit About My Teaching Experience

My first teaching experience was actually when I was 16 years old and taught a semester of 7th grade Spanish because there was no credentialed teacher available. Don't worry, they had a credentialed teacher in the room; she just couldn't speak Spanish. Anyway...it was quite the experience (and not in a good way) and as a result, teaching dropped off my radar as something I wanted to do when I grew up. I actually worked as a Research Scientist for several years in southern California before taking some time off to be with my kiddos. Following a few moves, our family settled in Folsom and I started volunteering in my kids' classrooms and loved helping kids learn. I became such a regular that some people began assuming I was a teacher so I got my credential and began teaching at Folsom Middle. When Sutter first opened, I transferred here and have been here ever since.

Running

I love to run, any distance from around the block to a marathon.

I love Drawing, Painting, Cake Decorating, and just being creative.

Fun Fact: I designed and painted the mural on the outside of the C wing and the murals in the B and C wing hallways.

This is a picture of a wedding cake I designed and made for my daughter's beach-themed wedding.
