FOLSOM CORDOVA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT
Intensive English EO

Date: October 2015
Course Length: 1 Year
Proposed Grade Level(s): 6-8
Subject Area/Credits: English
Grading: A-F

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed for students whose reading proficiency level requires instruction in reading foundational skills. Intensive English is a targeted two-period reading/language arts intervention program/course that addresses literacy and language development. Course materials and instruction are designed to provide and accelerate student language development. Due to the intensive nature of this course, in order to fill it to capacity, sites will likely choose to blend the three grades into one 90 minute section.

Students will work exclusively with the 90 minute version of the iLit EO curriculum until they are within one year of the grade level equivalency in reading level proficiency.

- 6th Grade: Students reading at the BR-3rd grade reading level based on the beginning of the year iReady reading diagnostic. Students should also be given an ORP assessment for fluency and score below the 20th percentile at their grade level to confirm proper placement. The Grade assessment within the iLit program will determine the students’ proper placement within the adaptive software.

- 7th Grade: Students reading at the BR-4th grade reading level based on the beginning of the year iReady reading diagnostic. Students should also be given an ORP assessment for fluency and score below the 20th percentile at their grade level to confirm proper placement. The Grade assessment within the iLit program will determine the students’ proper placement within the adaptive software.

- 8th Grade: Students reading at the BR-5th grade reading level based on the beginning of the year iReady reading diagnostic. Students should also be given an ORP assessment for fluency and score below the 20th percentile at their grade level to confirm proper placement. The Grade assessment within the iLit program will determine the students’ proper placement within the adaptive software.

GENERAL GOALS/ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS:

Emphasis is placed on accelerating student learning so that students will achieve the ability to read at grade level. The goals for the course correspond to goals put forth in the California ELA/ELD Framework.

CCSS READING COMPONENT:

Students will read a variety of materials, which/could include reading skills books, novels, timed readings, short stories, articles, plays, public forms, and documents. Students are assessed summatively in August, January, and May using the iReady reading diagnostic. Students are assessed formatively every week within the iLit program, as well as using teacher created and site based formative assessments.
● Word Analysis and Explicit Vocabulary Instruction - Students apply etymological and morphological knowledge to word meanings, including instruction in word derivation. Students employ a variety of strategies, such as using context clues to determine the meaning of new or unfamiliar words in a text.

● Comprehension - Students produce evidence of comprehension by paraphrasing ideas, distinguishing between fact and opinion, identifying the main idea of a passage, recognizing a sequence of events, drawing logical inferences, reading for key facts, and understanding the author’s approach and purpose. Students learn the difference between narrative text and reading informational or expository text. Students understand the importance of metacognition in the reading process.

● Decoding - Through direct phonics instruction, students become adept at decoding words and develop effective strategies for reading polysyllabic words.

● Fluency and Automaticity - Through systematic instruction in phoneme awareness, phonics, and sight words, students will improve their ability to read with accurate word recognition and natural syntactic phrasing. Students will improve their ability to mark the phrase boundaries in conventional text. Through timed readings and paired readings, students will improve their reading speed.

● Reading Strategies - Students will develop increased competency in recognizing text structures, previewing texts, guided reading, monitoring and metacognition, summarizing and synthesizing.

● Independent Reading - Students will engage in independent reading through sustained silent reading assignments within the classroom and at home. Reading will be documented and supported by reading logs, journals, accelerated reader testing, and reading calendars.

CCSS WRITING COMPONENT:

Students will practice summarization and paraphrasing techniques, as well as write informational, explanatory, argumentative, and narrative pieces in both single paragraph and multi-paragraph formats.

● Writing Strategies - Students will apply strategies acquired through reading skills in their writing, with particular attention to the paragraph.

● Writing Applications - Students will work on strategies for following instructions, responding in complete sentences, articulating the main idea of a fiction or non-fiction passage, correctly summarizing a sequence of events, drawing logical inferences, and describing the author’s approach and purpose within a text.

● Written and Oral English Language Conventions - Students will develop awareness of sentence and paragraph structure; punctuation; grammar and usage, diction, syntax, corrects spelling; outlining, and note taking skills.

CCSS SPEAKING AND LISTENING COMPONENT:

Students will speak both formally and informally in response to a variety of assignments. Students may be asked to give narrative presentations, dramatic presentations, responses to literature, persuasive arguments, and descriptive presentations.

● Listening and Speaking Strategies - Students will develop an awareness of oral communications by applying elements of expressive discourse, using various visual aids, using devices of oral rhetoric (intonation, gestures, eye contact) and producing concise notes for extemporaneous oral presentations.
• Speaking Applications - Students will practice a variety of listening and speaking strategies through classroom discussion, fluency reading, paired reading, choral reading, book talks, poetry readings, literature circle discussions, and dramatic readings.
