COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This is a year long college-level preparatory class designed as an overview of the field of sociology. It is intended to strengthen general study skills (e.g., analytical reading, expository writing, and oral communications), provide students an opportunity to begin work that could lead directly into a major program of study, and expose students, at some depth, to new disciplines that might form the basis for future major or minor studies at the university level. Students will be introduced to the 4 major domains of the National Standards for High School Sociology including, but not limited to, sociological concepts, theories, and procedures in the areas of collective behavior, crime, politics, race, ethnicity, education, health, gender, culture, and societal controversies.
